As I thumbed through a book one day

A picture stared out at me;

I saw a youngster hard at play—

Funny, he looked like me!

The editors of most college yearbooks often make attempts at formal pictorial and literary composition—something that will come up to the standards of their college training. But in doing this they have destroyed genial contact with the students and missed the purpose of the book entirely. The Yamacraw staff has prepared your annual with no regard for national or local boards of critics—in short, we have published your annual for you and about you by dropping formality and emphasizing

Cosmic History . . . and

Since Dr. Jacobs reestablished Oglethorpe University in 1913, he has taught a course called Cosmic History which is, at present, required of all seniors, and is so designed to better associate the student with the problems that he will face when he leaves the University. Dr. Jacobs believes that the only way people can rid the world of conflict is by a clear understanding of present-day problems in terms of the past so that we, as individuals, may be able to solve these problems by past experience and a clearly developed foresight. To develop this power of introspection in the college student, Dr. Jacobs has impressed upon him that one must realize the complexity of the elements which have gone into the making of Man and his environment.

Throughout the past ages, Man has undergone a series of changes in adjusting himself to the increasing complexity of his surroundings, and through a process of steady development and acclimation; he has become an ever-developing Knower in an ever-developing Known, waxing more and more complex and specialized as he meets the new obstacles with which he is faced. This summarizes Man's situation as it is seen today: a highly specialized creature beset upon all sides by a maze of primitive emotions. Dr. Jacobs holds to the theory that Man will ever continue to progress and will never become an element in the process of retardation.

The text used for the study of Cosmic History was written by Dr. Jacobs in which he presents the growth of Man through the composite eye of all the natural sciences. Through this procedure not one aspect of human life and its associations is omitted; a clear picture of the Universe as a whole is considered.

Once a week Dr. Jacobs conducts a lecture for his class, bringing into the lecture many interesting observations of his own along with the textual material. At the close of the year, the members of the class mear before a board of examiners and are required to pass an oral examination before they receive credit for the course.

POROHOVSHIKOV, NICOLASSEN, AVILES PEREZ

THE SCHOOL OF LIBERAL ARTS could well be named the Cosmopolitan School because the course of study is intended to encourage especially the study of languages, ancient and modern. Doctor George F. Nicolassen, dean of the school and one of the oldest members of the university faculty, has long been endeared to all students as "Doctor Nick." Doctor Nicolassen, professor of ancient languages, directs his staff of language professors consisting of Professor Pierre S. Porohovshikov, professor of French and German; Doctor Herman Gaertner, professor of German; and Doctor Luis Aviles Perez, professor of Spanish and Italian. Because of language requirements in other schools, all students of the university at one time or another come under the influence of this department.

HARDWICK, GAERTNER, WOODWARD

LIBERAL

ARTS

EDUCATION

DR. HERMAN J. GAERTNER is dean of the School of Education which is both an undergraduate and a graduate school. A number of graduates from this school in Oglethorpe University as well as other colleges have entered the teaching profession. Since much of the work is psychological and humanistic, the dicipline of this school is a preparation for dealing with all forms of human contact sides of life work, as well as for the teaching pro-Dr. Gaertner is professor of general psychology; Dr. Thomas B. Meadows, educational psychology; Professor Hugh A. Woodward, orientation in education, secondary education and school and social order: Professor Morris J. Hardwick, teaches in the extension school.

WALLACE, MOSTELLER

LITERATURE AND JOURNALISM

THE WORK in the School of Literature and Journalism is based upon two groups of courses, English major and Journalism major. The group of courses which centers in the study of English has the two-fold purpose of giving students command over the use of their own tongue in both speaking and writing, and of familiarizing them with those aspects of English literature which are usually treated in undergraduate courses. Dean Leonard DeLong Wallace, Professor Pierre S. Porohovshikov, and Professor J. D. Mosteller teach the subjects in this group. The journalism group has been designed as a professional course for students of journalism who are expected to follow basic courses in literature, history, economics, political science, and sociology. Mr. Hines, of the Atlanta Constitution editorial staff, is the instructor in the Technique of Journalism. Attached to the School of Literature and Journalism are courses in Bible and Mythology, taught by Dr. Nicolassen; public speaking by Professor Mosteller, and radio and stage production by Professor Paul Carpenter, Jr.

SCIENCE

THE SCHOOL OF SCIENCE, under the direction of Dean J. A. Aldrich, is organized to build a solid foundation for future work in such professions as agriculture, engineering, medicine and dentistry, and to prepare for industrial occupations not yet organized into professional groups. Besides giving their students practical work in the natural sciences, the professors of this school have done much to build a true prospective and its corollary, a sane judgement of relative values-attainments which are basic in any liberal culture. Dean Aldrich is the professor of astronomy, mathematics, and physics; Professors Harding Hunt and David W. Davis, of biology; and Professor Harold L. Jones, of chemistry and geology.

HUNT, JONES, ALDRICH

LESKOSKY, HUNT, PATRICK

ANDERSON

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

THE TASK of the School of Physical Education, under Dean John William Patrick, is the training of the students enrolled in this school for positions as physical directors and coaches in other schools, colleges and universities, in Y. M. C. A's, and the Army; and the development of the bodies of all students of the University. With his associates, Professors Harding Hunt, David W. Davis, and Louis Leskosky, Dean Patrick directs his students through three groups of studies: exhaustive anatomical research and investigation, teaching methods, and the theory and practice of athletic games. In order to extend the benefits of organized athletic competition to all students of Oglethorpe University, instead of only to those who take part in intercollegiate competition, the Department of Physical Education sponsors the program of Intramural Athletics. The purpose of the intramural department is to encourage every student to participate in some or all intramural sports, to provide facilities for this participation, to organize and promote intramural competition, and to stand for fair play and true sportsmanship. This program includes competive sports for every student on the campus—volleyball, basketball, baseball, badminton, tennis, fencing, shuffleboard, and archery.

SPRINGER

FINE ARTS

THE RESPONSIBILITY for the entire Art Department rests upon Professor James M. Springer, acting dean. The curriculum of the department has been divided into two classifications. One of these is designed to train students who intend to follow Commercial Art, and the other to give instructions in the fundamentals of the various fields of arts with an ultimate specialization in one particular field. Professor Springer, a graduate of the University of Tennessee and the Art Institute of Pittsburgh, is widely known throughout Atlanta in art circles, and is President of the Artist Guild of Atlanta.

MRS. SANDERS, ANDERSON, EASON

COMMERCE

THE COMMERCE department of Oglethorpe University embraces two schools, the School of Banking and Commerce and the School of Secretarial Preparation. Dr. Mark Burrows is the dean of both schools.

The Lowry School of Banking and Commerce furnishes the student with a general basis of business facts, standards and theory and stresses particularly accounting, finance, economics, and business law.

The secretarial course has been designed for those persons who wish to enter the business world in the capacity of skilled assistants to tnose in executive positions, teachers of commercial subjects in schools, office managers, and those persons who desire positions as social secretaries.

Members of the faculty included within these schools are Professors Mark Burrows, S. B. Fenster, Charles M. Anderson, W. N. Eason, Hugh A. Woodward, and Mrs. Ruth Wells Sanders.

MRS. CARPER

LIBRARY

The Oglethorpe Library, under the supervision of Mrs. Myrta Thomas Carper, librarian, is a popular retreat for both the studious and those seeking entertainment in books. Its 60,000 volumes include many rare books, such as the "Book of the Dead," book autographed by well-known persons, and foreign books, as well as those for research and general reading. The Family Tree of Man, prepared by the American Museum of Natural History, is the only one of its kind in the South and one of several in the United States. It is a tree of skulls giving a picture of the whole story of the evolution of man. On the walls are original oil paintings of General and Oglethorpe, Sidney Lanier, John Thomas Lupton, and many others.

TRIP

The Triple-E boys, the members of the Exceptional Educational Experiment, constitute a separate class at Oglethorpe. Doctor Jacobs founded the Experiment in 1939 to demonstrate two of his main ideas concerning education—that the nation needs for its leaders men with broad general education rather than a technical graining in only one field, and that under the present educational set-up about half of the student's ability is wasted.

LE E'S

The Triple-E's have already finished four years' college work in less than two, but they will continue studies at Oglethorpe for another four years. They will take every course the University offers, and after six years here will receive a specially-created degree, Doctor of Arts and Sciences. They will have maintained averages above ninety in their classwork, but the real test of the efficiency of their education will be to teach successfully every subject they have taken. They will begin teaching next fall.

Alpha Lambda Tau was founded by a group of men who first organized as the Alpha Lambda Tau Club, the first fraternal organization at Oglethorpe University. After its reorganization in 1916, the fraternity soon became a power on the campus and numbered on its rolls some of the most influential of the students. Its purpose had been to maintain good fellowship and understanding among the club groups at Oglethorpe; but with T. V. Morrison. C. C. Mason, Marion Gaertner (the first freshman to enter the University), O. M. Cobb, William Nunn, H. F. Whitehead, and Carl Stokes as officers and through the efforts of Doctor H. J. Gaertner, it was decided that the organization should become a national order. Consequently the fraternity was incorporated under the laws of the State of Georgia; the name was registered as Alpha Lambda Tau; and the members determined that the new national should grow with the new Oglethorpe. It was once thought that the fraternity would never go north of the Mason-Dixon Line, but today it has twenty-one chapters.

Two official songs have been adopted: "The Sweetheart of A. L. T." by Tom Ellis of Eta Chapter and "The Dream Girl of A. L. T." by Paul Crumbaugh of Omicron Chapter. The colors of the fraternity are old gold and black. The flower is the American Beauty Rose.

Prominent Alumni include: Dr. William Lee Nunn, an Oglethorpe graduate, editor of several text books on economic sociology and professor at Dana College; Dr. Marc C. Leager, professor of economics at North Carolina State College; John Randolph Hearst, graduate of Oglethorpe, editor of Harper's Bazaar, vice president of Cosmopolitan and Good Housekeeping magazines; and Dr. M. D. Collins, Oglethorpe graduate and State Superintendent of Education of Georgia.

This young fraternity was incorporated as a national college fraternity on December 23, 1907, under the laws of the State of South Carolina.

At the ninth supreme convention in 1916, Oglethorpe University was granted a charter and designated as Pi Chapter.

The fraternity has grown from a small club to one of 8,300 members embracing 40 chapters in colleges and universities throughout the country.

The red rose is the fraternity flower, and the colors are gold and white.

The officers of the Pi Chapter are: Yancey L. Shaver, President; Robert Booth, Secretary; Jack Stephens, Treasurer; Jerry Hastings, Historian; and Augustus Hendry, Warden.

In the sweltering heat of the first week in September, Coach John Patrick faced the job of developing a starting eleven from the thirty-five candidates who reported for the first day of practice.

With veterans Captain Ernie Sheffield, a guard, Tony Zelencik, a tackle, Martin Kelly, a back, a number of seasoned reserves augmented by a few promising sophomores, the task of shaping up a team to face Georgia's Bulldogs on September 27, at Ponce de Leon ball park, was not a too pessimistic-looking one.

The early workouts progressed smoothly, if slowly, never seriously impeded by injuries. Pounds rolled off as the Stormy Petrels sweated themselves into condition. The coaching staff decided to taper off during the last week, after a workout under the lights at the North Fulton High School field, everything was in readiness for the big test.

The biggest Oglethorpe team in several seasons was conceded at least a fighting chance to stop the 1940 edition of the "flaming sophomores" of Georgia.

ASSISTANT COACH LOU LESKOSKY
PEPPY PATRICK
HEAD COACH JOHN PATRICK

Under the arc lights of Ponce de Leon park, 25,000 spectators were amazed as they watched a highly-touted Oglethorpe team absorb the decisive defeat at the hands of the Bulldogs. In bitter disappointment the Stormy Petrel bowed down to a much greater machine which lacked nothing. The Petrels' uppermost thought was to give Georgia a good game, this they did as far as their limits allowed. Oglethorpe believed that they could give the Bulldogs a fight as long as the "big team" held out, but a lack of reserves proved to be the weakest spot in the Oglethorpe armor. Georgia, on the other hand, showed speed, power, stamina, running, and kicking, and passing with the greatest precision. Coach Patrick had started one of the biggest Oglethorpe lines in history, with Ernie Roberti, James Timberlake at ends. Tony Zelencik, Vic Cegoy at tackles, Captain Ernie Sheffield, Dave Eavanson at guards, Joe Reid at center. The line averaged 205 rounds, with 170 pound Ernie Roberti the smallest man, 225 pound Joe Reid the biggest. In the starting backfield were Pete Maman, 175 pound tailback, Trig Thomason, 175 pound fullback, Charlie Monsour, 165 pound former Commercial High star, 180

A bad break of the Petrels came in the first quarter when Georgia intercepted a shovel pass on the Birds' own 15 yard line, carried the bell over from that point in the first five minutes of play. From that point on the game was all Georgia. Sophomores Lamar Davis, Frank Sinkwich spurred their team-mates on to great efforts as they tore gaping holes in the fighting Petrel line. Davis' 65 yard return of a punt at the start of the third period was the longest run of the evening, however, and it was necessary for the Bulldogs to capitalize on breaks, long sustained drives to run up their score.

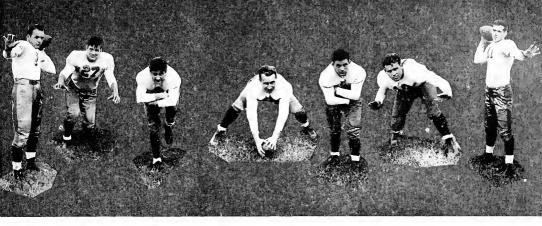

Ernie Sheffield, the only man on either team to go the route, never once lacked the fight and drive which characterized his play all through his career at Oglethorpe. Big tackle Tony Zelencik was all in the iron man class until a twisted knee in the fourth quarter removed him from the game. Center Joe Reid and end Jamie Timberlake gave the last ounce of their strength to stom the tide, and backs Maman, Tosches, and Kelly gave the only Oglethorpe offensive spark, but their efforts were in vain. Sophomores Dave Eavenson. Ed Link, Tom Hunter, Charlie Waller, Bill Whitaker got their first taste of varsity competition, gave good accounts of themselves.

OGLETHORPE 14

Oglethorpe's Stormy Petrels opened their conference season at home, October 4, against a Wofford College team which came from behind to outscore the Birds in a nip and tuck see-saw battle. The Terriers came to Hermance Field with Jack Taggart, one of the surest passers in the conference, and James Hilton a pint-sized scatback, both the envy of enemy coaches. It was these two Woffordites who just about spelled the difference of victory for the Terriers.

OGLETHORPE 20 ALABAMA STATE TEACH, 7

Oglethorpe's Stormy Petrels flew wild as they spoiled the annual homecoming for the Alabama Teachers, 20-7. This was the first win of the season for the Birds.

In the final minutes of play the Teachers hanging on in a defensive game, Shifty Little Charlie Monsour brought the crowd to its feet with a spectacular run of 65 yards behind some beautiful blocking to score the climactic goal. Sheffield's successful conversion capped the evening.

CITADEL 25

OGLETHORPE 0

Injuries to key Petrels and a host of fast-stepping Citadel backs spelled defeat to the Petrel's invasion attempt on the Charleston, S. C. stronghold on October 25. Fullback Bolduc and tailback Hank Foster were the thorns in the Bird's sides throughout the day.

It was Parents' Day at the Battery School, and the Bulldogs were out to impress their guests. A second period 52 yard march, a 48 yard punt return by Foster in the third quarter, another Bolduc-Foster sustained drive in the third, and finally a 34-yar' march following a blocked kick recovery by Ben Suitt, Citadel flankman.

UNCROWNED KINGS

The man who kicks the field goal
That wins the hard fought game,
He kicks his way to glory,
The thousands cheer his name.
But what about the center
Who passes him the ball?
He makes or breaks the kicker, but
He isn't cheered at all.

The back who crashes through the line, For ten or maybe more, And makes the final touchdown That proves the winning score,

He's hailed the college hero
Amidst a wild hurray—
But what of guard or tackle
Who opened up the way?

Oh, football has its heroes,
Some of the gifted toe,
And others who can smash a line
And strike the winning blow.
But as in every game on earth,
Including that of life,
Its greatest heroes often pass
Unnoticed through the strife.

NEWBERRY 28 OGLETHORPE 7
It was a case of a "jinx" working against the Petrels as they took the field on November 2, in the thirteenth Homecoming tilt, and lost to the Newberry Indians, the first time in history that an Oglethorpe team had ever dropped a Homecoming game. It was the fourth period onslaught of Little-All-American Dominick Collangelo that spelled the difference between victory and defeat.

After the Indians had made their first seven points the Petrels took over, for a period and a half. They got their scoring chance when Jack Mockabee, who played a whale of a game at centter, subbing for the injured Joe Reid, intercepted one of Dominick's passes on the Newberry 20 and went to the 15. The Birds fritted away three downs, but on the fourth try Joe Tosches dropped back and passed beautifully to Charlie Monsour at the goal line, 11 yards away.

Joe Tosches gained about as much ground as did Collangelo, and it was his sweeps of the Newberry flanks that cheered Oglethorpe supporters midway in the game. Ernie Sheffield stayed for 60 minutes of ball, later was awarded the Blue Key medal as the outstanding Homecoming player, by a vote of the press box. Tosches' great game led the Blue Key officers to duplicate the award to Sheffield, an unprecedented move.

TAMPA 52 OGLETHORPE 0

One of the greatest disasters ever to strike an Oglethorpe team came in mid-season when disciplinary action brought the dismissal of five members of the varsity, three of them slated to start against Tampa on November 8. Two of the five were reinstatetd, but big center Joe Reid, guard Gus Hendry, fullback Trig Thomason were lost.

In the line there was a good deal of 60 minute ball, but the 45 minutes played by Randy Sheets in place of Jamie Timberlake, who had gone out with a sprained ankle earlier, were the most courageous minutes demonstrated by the Petrels all season. When it was over, Sheets had a badly sprained ankle, was through for the rest of the season.

The game itself was merely a case of Williams, Williams, Williams and more Williams, as big, hard-running Chamo Williams completely overwhelmed the Black and Gold warriors, scoring ir almost every conceivable way.

ERSKINE 0

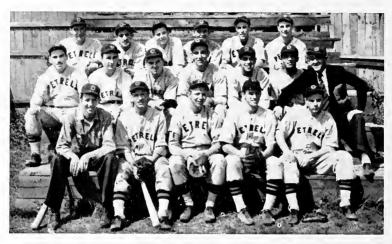

Oglethorpe's Petrels whitewashed the Erskine Seceders November 22 before a Thanksgiving Day crowd of 5,000. The Petrels tallied once in the first-twice in the second, and again in the fourth quarter. Erskine threatened only once, driving to the one-yard line in the fourth, only to lose the ball on downs.

PRESBYTERIAN 20 OGLETHORPE 0 Although limited to one first down and to only 66 yards by rushing by a battling Oglethorpe defense, Presbyterian's Blue Hose capitalized on the breaks to give the Petrels a beating at Hermance Field in the season's finale for both teams.

Presbyterian scored early on a pass intercepted by center Raterse in the first quarter, and again in the closing minutes of the second period. The Birds scored in the third quarter when Ed Link recovered a fumbled punt on the P. C. 26, and Pete Maman passed on fourth down to Joe Tosches. The final P. C. score came when Church intercepted a pass from Farrar and went 22 yards to score.

BLASH TRIAL

Biggest horseplay of the year was "the case of the people of Lupton City vs. Bruno V. Blash," a trial for "vagrancy." Court convened Tuesday evening, February 11, with Judge Zelencik on the bench. After a dignified ceremony and much wise-cracking, the jury retired for one minute and twenty seconds to bring in a verdict of "guilty." An appeal was granted and a retrial took place the following Thursday in student chapel.
